ABOUT THE SHOW:

Explore the world through the eyes of Jargie the Science Girl!, and her lab assistant, Benjamin the Penguin. Young audiences are invited to visit her laboratory for an energetic, interactive scientific adventure that is sure to rattle the molecules of their minds! Bubbles, chemical reactions, rockets, and dooblyblopers galore, this 1-hour performance is filled with exciting experiments and demonstrations based on the Next Generation Science Standards.

The adventure would not be complete, without exploring the science behind the jargon, and paying homage to some of the brilliant minds that loved science a long, long, long time ago. More than just a science education show, the performance is a full theatrical spectacle featuring larger-than-life props, multimedia, and an excess of high-energy quirk.

RUNNING TIME: 60 Minutes (No intermission)
Performance is also available for school matinees as part of your outreach series.

EXTRAS: With careful planning, Jargie can be available for post-performance autographs and photos, as well as pre-show meet and greets.

FEEDBACK FROM EDUCATORS

"Great, compact and informative program. Well delivered education and presentation. Perfect amount of humor too!" -Tisha Paster, Homeschool Coordinator, Burbank, CA

"My 3rd graders LOVED Jargie! Every student wanted to pass by and say "hi!" to Jargie! They continued talking about it all the way back to class. My 4th grade daughter saw the assembly the day before and had the same reaction. She loved it and told me all about it that night and couldn't wait for me to see it!" -Joyce Yniguez, Central Elementary School, Baldwin Park, CA
